▶ LOGISTICS

Our proven expertise in procurement, warehousing, distribution and freight management can help you keep your supply chain - and your business - moving.

In Italy, we have acted as the trusted logistics partner to some of the country's leading eating-out brands for over 20 years. Our customers benefit from HAVI's unique business model, which gives them complete transparency and visibility across the supply chain while ensuring financial stability by offering goods ownership and taking care of financial and administrative flows.

Applying this model, our logistics specialists drive each customer's success by matching their specific needs to tailored solutions that consistently deliver service improvements and cost efficiencies. We also position customers to unlock emerging opportunities with expert guidance on sourcing the best new products from the best suppliers.

Ultimately, we free our customers to focus on growing their core business by taking full control of all their logistics processes, allowing them to attract more satisfied customers with premium quality product at the most competitive cost.

Going greener

We apply our talent for innovation to developing smarter ways of driving efficiency across the supply chain while reducing our customers' environmental footprint. Among other measures, this involves greater use of alternative energy sources such as the photovoltaic plant that powers our distribution centers and the natural gas that fuels our vehicles. We have also introduced pioneering aerodynamic and refrigeration solutions that reduce fuel consumption and CO₂ emissions.

▶ PACKAGING

HAVI provides strategic and operational expertise to ensure that our customers' packaging supports the optimal movement of their products through the supply chain. We take a holistic view, determining how packaging can support a customer's strategic goals from concept development to production to the market and through end of life. In Italy, we manage packaging supplies at 532 restaurants for the leading global quick service restaurant brand.

▶ RECYCLING & WASTE

HAVI provides sustainable end-to-end waste management solutions that drive in-store efficiency and optimization while building an environmentally sustainable business. Through our distribution network, we provide innovative technology and reverse logistics solutions to recycle waste materials, minimizing our customers' environmental impact and maximizing value.

▶ SUPPLY CHAIN MANAGEMENT

Our talented Supply Chain Management experts partner with our customers to understand their business objectives, then deliver a suite of right-sized solutions designed to meet those objectives. We know that our customers' primary focus is always on their own customers. Accordingly, our procurement and planning specialists use their expertise to ensure that our customers never run out of the product their customers want to buy. We also handle all the operational issues associated with managing promotions.
